CRITICAL PEDAGOGY ON COLONIAL LATIN AMERICA

A WORKSHOP ON NEW APPROACHES TO TEACHING

Friday, April 14, 2023 | César Chávez Room 406A

Please join local and invited members of the Southwest Seminar for the inaugural workshop on the teaching and pedagogy of colonialism in the early modern Latin America and the Americas. Our invited scholars will share original research, annotated translations, teaching activities, and lesson plans. The workshop is part of wider initiative that promotes and elevates critical scholarship of teaching and understandings of the past.

Invited Presenters include:

- ❖ DR. GREGORY CUSHMAN, UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
- ❖ DR. TRACY GOODE, AMERICAS RESEARCH NETWORK
- ❖ DR. KRISTIN DUTCHER MANN, UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS, LITTLE ROCK
- ❖ DR. MEGAN MCDONIE, THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS, RIO GRANDE VALLEY
- ❖ DR. SANTIAGO MUÑOZ-ARBELÁEZ, THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN
- ❖ DR. LANCE THURNER, RUTGERS UNIVERSITY

the Southwest Seminar is dedicated to original, innovative works focused on the study of colonial Latin America. The consortium is comprised of an interdisciplinary group of scholars from more than a dozen institutions. For more information, please contact DR. R.A. KASHANIPOUR at rykash@arizona.edu.
