Mexican poetry on Mexican ruins

Archaeological sites like Uxmal, Cholula, and Teotihuacan, or artifacts made by ancient Mesoamerican cultures have fascinated many generations of Mexican poets, from the nineteenth century to our days

This course focuses on translated poems by famous poets like José María Heredia, Justo Sierra, Carlos Pellicer, José Carlos Becerra, Octavio Paz, José Emilio Pacheco, Elsa Cross and Efraín Bartolomé

History, religion, philosophy, and literature cross over these texts and offers a new and fertile perspective on Mexican culture
